

Dr. Ninja is a mixed animal veterinary practitioner in Iowa, working on all kinds of animals except skunks. He raises American British White Park cattle. He has worked detasseling, construction, on a garbage truck, tutoring, as an inventor, in veterinary practice, an occasional speaker at continuing education classes, and now as an author. He has been a youth coach, is a hunter safety instructor, is an elder in his church, been president of the American British White Park Cattle Association, president of the local Pheasants Forever, on Veterinary Technician Advisory Board, and other local activities.