This form was prepared as part of a research/survey/nomination project in 2011-2012 funded by a HRDP grant from the State Historical Society of Iowa for the nomination of the Washington Downtown Historic District. The project was primarily structured to develop the nomination for the downtown, with additional research on each building documented on an Iowa Site Inventory form. The information below was collected, and it was determined that this building did not fall in the final district boundary.

7. Narrative Description

This is two-story building that has been jointly clad and redeveloped as apartments with the adjacent building. Both are historically related and included together on this form. Historically, a larger building sat to the north with a smaller building/addition to the south. The facade (east) of the north half has two apartment entries on the first story. A picture window with flanking double-hung windows and a pair of double-hung windows are located between the entries. A canvas awning, stretching from the left to the right sides of the building, covers the entries and windows. The second story has four double-hung windows. While the locations appear historic, the size and sashes are non-historic. The south half of the facade has a picture window with flanking double-hung windows and an apartment entry. The second story has three double-hung windows lower than the north windows. The north side has an apartment entry near the center, with four windows to the east and one window to the west. The second story has seven double-hung window and a smaller window. The south (alley) side has an entry towards the rear of the building. Several double-hung windows are found on both stories. The rear (west) likewise has two apartment entries, a fire escape, and several double-hung windows. Each window and door opening is set back into the concrete block walls.

8. Narrative Statement of Significance

Though the core of the north half of this building likely dates around 1865, and its south addition to around 1915, the c.1970s cladding in aluminum siding and conversion to apartments has obscured the exterior and interior features of this earlier building. Thus, it does not appear to retain integrity to be contributing in the Washington Downtown Historic District, and it has been excluded from the boundary as it falls on the north edge.

Research tells us that in 1885 the Wilde & Co. Foundry and Machine Shop was located on this property. Wilde & Co - agricultural works - started in fall 1863. Transfer books confirm that on March 24, 1865 a Mr. John Wilde purchased the property from a Mr. John Wagner and wife. The 1885 Sanborn map shows a two-story machine shop building to the north attached to a one-story shed to the south. A foundry was located in a separate building behind the building along Marion. The property was sold on July 16, 1888 by a Sheriff's Sale (MH Sweet-sherriff) to J.M. Denny. Then, it was sold at another Sheriff's Sale (MH Sweet – sherrif) on June 25, 1889 to E.E. Everson. The 1892 map continues to show a two-story building with a one-story shed to the south. A carpenter's shop was in a separate building to the north, and a foundry was in a separate building to the west. Thus, David Wild - manufacturers of grain elevators - occupied the full east half block, or Lots 1 and 2 in Block 4. The 1897 Sanborn Map shows “D. Wilde” - manufacturers of grain elevators as well. The north two-story building is woodworking and a machine shop, and the attached one-story building is a carpenter shop. The building to the north was still used for carpentry, and the building to the west was then a paint shop.

By 1899, the Wilde business moved to a new location on N. Iowa, and Norman Everson sold off part of the property. The south half of Lot 1, with this two/one story building, was then sold to Clyde Brown on January 15, 1901. The 1902 Sanborn map shows the Brown Buggy Company on the south half of lots 1 and 2. The two-story portion is repostry, finishing, and painting, and the one-story portion is woodworking and blacksmith. The property went through several owners in the next decade, with no clear chain of title in the transfer books. Records show Charles Stout and wife selling interest in the property (south half of Lot 1, 2, and 3) to H.E. McCollum & J.S. Phillips on April 11, 1907. On April 8, 1912, Calvin Long then sold interest in the property to Nancy Hayes Hodges. Generally, the south half of lots 1, 2, and 3 seem to transfer together from the early 1900s through the 1970s.

The 1909 Sanborn shows the use for this building as storage and feed depot (north two-story) and a hay warehouse (the south one-story). The 1910 city directory lists Marburg & Helwick, flour and feed, at 215 N. Marion. The 1917 Sanborn map shows the south portion as enlarged to two stories and renumbered to 215. It is auto sales. The north two-story portion has auto in the front with feed and hay in the rear. A concrete block building has also been built to the rear on the south half of lot 3 and west half of the south half of lot 2 (see form for 214-218 W. 3rd St - #92-00592). The 1926 city directory lists Mangold Garage at 213 N. Marion, and it is still here in 1932. In 1932, Whittaker Feed Yard is listed at 215 N. Marion. The 1931 Sanborn Map lists auto sales, office and junk storage. The 1941 City Directory lists the “Railway Express Agency” at 213 North Marion Avenue and at 215 North Marion Avenue “Whittaker & Barnes – Auction”. The 1952 directories list the Railway Express Agency and High Compression Products at 213 North Marion. In 1956 directories list a Army Reserve Training at 215 N. Marion and Curtis Produce at 213 N. Marion.

The estate of Bertha Philips sold the south half of lots 1-2-3 to Clair Booth on January 27, 1954. Booth then sold this property to L.C. Willits and wife on January 29, 1955. They then transferred it to L.C. and Selma Willits on August 28, 1964. L.C. Willits died, and his estate transferred the south half of lots 1-2-3 to Selma Willits on October 21, 1971. She owned it until her death in 1976, and then the property transferred to Rolland D. Benson. At some point in this period, the buildings were renovated and converted to apartments.
